War's diary #1

In Progress 31.1.2023, 15:14

(https://readcoop.eu)

Aug. 1st 1914

War declared between Austria & Serbia in morning paper. Afternoon V. & I went up to Ballyarthur, the Olivers & Mr. Armstrong were there for times. Mr. A. said the cross channel steamers would probably be requisitioned if England went to war & we could get over to England. Mr. O. not at all pleased. She said she had wished to leave the day after the gun-running & thought she was right. In the evening Jack turned up said the Barrons had indefinitely postponed their coming to Glendalough on acct of troublous times. Stock Exchange in London closed for the first time yesterd. I think Charter wiston moved up late it through.

Aug 2nd Sunday

After Church Lucy Johnston joined us & returned to lunch. She & Jack went to station where a tripp train had just come in & tackled a promise tourist with a red moustache & a newspaper (we could get none of the special edition of Irish Times in).

War declared between Austria & Serbia in morning paper. Afternoon V. & I went up to Ballyarthur, the Olivers & Mr. Armstrong were there for times. Mr. A. said the cross channel steamer would probably be requisitioned if England went to war & noon could get over to England. Mr. O. not at all pleased. She said she had wished to leave the day after the gunning & thought she was right. In the evening Jack turned up said the Barrons had indefinite postponed their coming to Clendalough on acct of troublous time. Stock Exchange in London Closed for the first time yesterd. I think Charter wiston moved up late it through.

Aug 2nd Sunday

After Church Lucy Johnston joined us & returned to lunch. The face went to station where a tripped train had put come in & tackled a promises tourist with a red moustache & a new paper (we could get none of the special edition of bout nine in the villary) He told them that Germany had declared War with Russia & had fired across the trench ontier though war was not yet declared. In afternoon drove to woodenbridge to fitt the Olivers, but being now employed (France was

Thank you for downloading Transkribus!

Important notes

- Transkribus is platform independent and will run on Windows, Mac and Linux.
- Transkribus is written in Java. You need to have the newest Java 8 (64-bit) installed on your computer for Transkribus to work. This should be the case for most computers.
- You can get the latest java version here (<https://adoptopenjdk.net/>)
- If you need to check your Java version read more here (https://java.com/en/download/help/version_manual.xml)

Unzip ZIP File

- After download you will see a ZIP File in the download directory of your computer.
- Unzip the file before you try to start an executable (.exe) file.

Run Transkribus via an executable file: .exe, .command, .sh

- Open the Transkribus directory. There you will find the executable files for your operating system.

(<https://readcoop.eu>)

- Start Transkribus from your user interface via doubleclick:

- Windows: Transkribus.bat or use Transkribus.exe
- Mac OS – Apple: Transkribus.command
- Linux: Transkribus.sh

Notes for first launch on Linux

- If the OS is (or is based on) Ubuntu 17.04, installing libwebkit is necessary:

sudo apt install libwebkitgtk-1.0-0

Notes for first launch on Windows

- If you do not have “Administrator” rights, Windows will produce a warning message, such as: “Your Computer is Protected by Windows”, etc.
- Do not confirm, but go to “More Information”. There you can agree that this is not malware and that you want to run Transkribus on your computer.

Notes for first launch on MAC

If the download does not work on your Mac, then try this download here

(<https://transkribus.eu/TrpServer/rest/downloadLatestGui?packageType=mac>).

- If you run the program the first time, it may not start because it is a non-signed application (“... can’t be opened because it is from an unidentified developer” message)
- In this case, right-click (or control-click) the application and choose “Open”. In the appearing dialog box, click “Open” again!
- Or right click the Track Pad to open the Context Menu and add a security exception for Transkribus.

Additional Info

- Please note that Transkribus is developed and tested using the Java Virtual Machine (JVM) by Oracle in version 1.8. While it is known to run also on the JVM that comes with OpenJDK, other implementations are neither tested nor officially supported. The same is valid for Java versions > 9.
